

SUMMER CHORAL INSTITUTE 2008

PRESENTED BY
NATIONAL PHILHARMONIC &
MONTGOMERY COLLEGE
DEPARTMENT OF MUSIC

HOW TO FALL IN LOVE WITH SINGING IN JUST FIVE DAYS!

Monday, July 28 through Friday, August 1
3:00 to 9:30 pm
Montgomery College Rockville Campus

Co-directors:

Dr. Molly Donnelly, nationally and internationally known mezzo-soprano, and vocal teacher and choral director at Montgomery College/Rockville

Dr. Stan Engebretson, Artistic Director of the National Philharmonic Chorale and head of choral music at George Mason University

Join singers from around the region for a week of great music-making this summer. The Summer Choral Institute offers high school age singers a unique opportunity for intensive vocal training, master classes, rehearsals, and performance.

- ◆ Learn from some of the area's leading coaches and music educators.
- ◆ Use new vocal techniques to tap the beauty and power of your voice.
- ◆ Explore voice-building methods used by professional singers.
- ◆ Wrap up the week at the new Richard Montgomery High School in a special performance of Daniel Pinkham's "Wedding Cantata," Brahms' love songs, new arrangements of American folk songs and spirituals and more!

The fee for the Summer Choral Institute is $200; $50 of that amount is a nonrefundable deposit that is due with your completed registration form by May 16, 2008.

To download the registration form and for further information on the Institute, please visit www.nationalphilharmonic.org and click on the "Education" link in the left side of the page.